Métis Elder Angelina Mercredi has a legacy of community service. Despite early challenges, including her mother's passing and years in residential school, her commitment to her Métis community is evident. Recognized with awards like the Queen's Diamond Jubilee Medal and the Governor General's Award, she has dedicated over 55 years to various organizations, notably leading the Elder Caring Shelter.

"To me, Métis is here. It's in your heart, you know who you are. You are raised in your culture [and] you knew your history, but most of all you didn't have to be told. You knew it, you lived it."

-Rupertsland Centre for Teaching and Learning, 2020
