Brianna Lizotte is a dedicated and resilient musician who has made a profound impact on Métis communities through her unwavering commitment to preserving and sharing their cultural traditions. Brianna has competed in the Canadian Grand Masters, performed at Alberta music festivals, and had the incredible honor of playing for the Pope while supporting Métis delegates in Rome in 2022. Beyond performing, she teaches fiddle, shares Métis history through music and dance, and records for various projects. A recent MacEwan University music graduate, she is eager to continue advancing her career in the Canadian music scene.

"I had always been around the fiddle, it was everywhere all the time. We would have family from up north come down to visit... everyone would come around and uh little did I know that was a Métis thing...I just knew it as like my family..."
